Part 1

The title of the work I authored is “Gables.” It is a four-song release by a band I was in called Send Away Stranger. I was not the sole author of the work, there were three other people in this group and all four of us contributed to the writing of each song. It was not based on any other work. It was published online by the band at <https://sendawaystranger.bandcamp.com/> on May 7th, 2014. It was also released on cassette tape by a record label called Jeremy Records in late summer 2014, but no contract was signed for the release. The only records of the agreement for the tape release are in Facebook messages and text messages, which would detail the arrangement (Jeremy Records paid for the tapes and kept any profit of their sale). As such, Send Away Stranger continues to retain all rights.
